

Chief Learning Curator

Roslina is a passionate life-long learner who believes that sharing knowledge is one of the most powerful forms of learning. Which is why she had been curating experiences, creating curriculum, training and lecturing for over 2 decades on multiple topics for various sectors and demographics. During which time she has honed the ability to democratize abstract concepts, and undergird any curriculum with principles and values. As a serial entrepreneur, Roslina has worked alongside industry captains and pioneers across the fields of private equity, Formula 1 technology, higher education, lifestyle, manufacturing, and F&B.

