

Stueti is Masters in Mechanical Engineering from BITS Pilani & Cornell University, NY. She has 6+ years of experience in the field of Systems Engineering and co-lead Systems Engineering competency development at the technology center of John Deere India. Currently she is manager for off-highway equipment vehicle controllers' software development.

She was awarded the SWE Distinguished New Engineer Award in 2016 which recognizes women engineers who have been actively engaged in engineering in the first 10 years of their careers.